Some 300 firemen battled the fire which began Jan. 1. Low temperatures and cork insulation in the walls of the building have made the fire extremely difficult to extinguish.

Three Local Boys Admit Burglaries

Four Marion Youths Arrested Here For Shoplifting; Find Looted Meters

Three local youths were picked up in connection with six burglaries, four Marion youths were arrested in connection with shoplifting here, and the six city parking meters were found looted during a night of activity by county and city police last night.

Places admitted broken into by the local trio were Brownie's Army store on one occasion, the Gene Hughes home west of the L. A. Vineyard home northwest of town, the Riegel Farm Implement Co., John's pool room and the Schwartz shoe shop. All were entered between Dec. 15 and New Year's, Sheriff William T. Barrett said.

Held in connection with these burglaries were Donald Ray Sheldon, 16, Carl Ray Fleming, 17, and Darrell Duke, 16, all of Harrisburg.

Items Recovered

Barrett said Duke admitted taking part in all four burglaries, Fleming in the Brownie's, Hughes and Schwartz break-ins and Sheldon in the pool room and Hughes burglaries. They admitted the Vineyard and Riegel burglaries later in questioning before State's Atty. Robert V. Wilson.

Barrett said about $150 was taken from the Hughes farm home on New Year's Eve night, about $150 in merchandise was taken from Brownie's, six or seven dollars from the pool room, a large flashlight from Vineyard's, a small amount from Riegel's, and nothing from the Schwartz shoe repair shop.

Recovered, he said, were $61.10 plus a quantity of pennies; the following merchandise from Brownie's store; two bows and about two dozen arrows, ten hunting knives, a wrench, pair of combat boots, two heavy jackets and the flashlight. The merchandise was in the Fleming car, Barrett added.

Deny Other Break-Ins
The sheriff got a clue on the Hughes burglary and he and Deputy Sheriff Everett N. Sneed rounded up the boys, who admitted the burglaries. They denied break-ins at the schools, Elks, Humane Shelter, the first Brownie's burglary and the theft of the parking meters.

Barrett said the boys told him how they performed the Hughes burglary. Fleming, they said, went to the door and knocked to see if anybody was home. The Hughes family was at home; so he asked the directions to where somebody lived. Later the group telephoned the Hughes house and when nobody answered they knew the family had departed. Fleming stayed in his car in a lane

58.52 Inches of Rainfall in '57

Harrisburg had more than eight inches of rainfall in 1957 than in 1937, the year the Ohio river flooded big.

Figures from the Harrisburg pumping station show the 1957 total to be 58.52, the first year of more than normal rainfall here since 1951, when the precipitation was 45.38. The 58.52 was more than 15 inches above normal.

The U. S. Weather Bureau has designated 43.46 as normal rainfall for a year in this area.

In 1937, the total rainfall was 50.28 inches, with 15 inches coming down in January, the year the Ohio flooded.

Biggest month in 1957 was last May, when the total was 11.08. Of this amount 9.45 inches fell in 36 hours on May 22-23, a record fall.

The rainfall in 1956 was 34.64, in 1955 39.51, in 1954 36.63, all below normal.

The precipitation by the month for the past year:

January 4.20, February 3.60, March 2.92, April 8.45, May 11.08, June 5.44, July 1.81, August 3.24, September 1.01, October 3.24, November 7.43, December 5.94.

One-Arm Driving Upheld, But He Shouldn't Have Looked

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Supreme court held Thursday that John Spano was within the law when he put his arm around his girl, but out-of-bounds when he looked at her.

The court upheld a $10,000 damage award to the girl, Patricia Doherty, for injuries received when Spano's car ran into a fire hydrant in 1955.

"The fact that the defendant drove with one arm on the back of the seat was not in itself enough to constitute gross negligence," the court ruled. But it was $10,000 negligent of him to take his eyes off the road, the ruling held.

Caterpillar to Cut Production At Peoria Plant

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Caterpillar Tractor Co. has announced it will either go on a four-day week or shut down its plant here after Jan. 10 to reduce inventories.

About 27,000 persons normally are employed by Caterpillar here, but about 6,000 of them have been laid off in the past several months.

The company said Thursday the production cut would be discussed with unions representing its employees and "an announcement will be made as soon as possible" on whether the reduction will be made by shutting down the plant or going on a four day week.

It said the "duration of the reduction will depend" on the inventory in the weeks ahead and that the effect of the reduction on its other plants is "under consideration."

Caterpillar President H. S. Eberhard said, "It is apparent that the levels of business throughout the country are lower than were predicted by most people even three months ago."

"We regret this. However, we have to do the thing necessary for the good of the company. We continue to look forward to the day when business will again justify normal operations."

The company said that "although production could be reduced by further layoffs, the company feels that it has reached the point in its operations where further layoffs" and the "resultant downgrading" of the remaining employees "are impractical."

The BIG question is who is the first little new citizen of Harrisburg, the first baby born in Harrisburg township in 1958 going to be? There has been no report of a candidate for the title of New Year 1958 and the list of valuable prizes offered by the merchants of Harrisburg . . . yet.

Parents, whose baby might be the winner, please remember to have your doctor state the exact time of the baby's birth, the place of birth, sex, weight and name of the baby and the name and address of the parents.

Cold Wave Grips Most of Nation

By United Press

The bitterest cold wave of the winter gripped most of the nation east of the Rocky Mountains today and the Weather Bureau promised little relief.

Below freezing temperatures were reported along a line from the Carolina coast into southern Alabama and Mississippi and northward into the Texas Panhandle.

The cold air pushed into northern Florida while the southeast Florida coast was battered by damaging gale winds up to 55 miles an hour for the second straight day.

The howling winds shattered windows, uprooted trees and disrupted power in the Miami area. Gale warnings were hoisted from Daytona Beach to the Keys.

Torrential rains accompanying the storm caused local flooding and threatened heavy damage to winter vegetable crops in southeastern Florida, including Dade County's rich tomato crop.

Olney Service Station Held Up; Three Arrested

OLNEY, Ill. (AP)—A service station was held up here Thursday at 10:05 p. m. and 12 minutes later three East St. Louis persons were arrested 22 miles away at Lawrenceville and charged with the armed robbery.

Held in Richland County jail here were Robert Earl Gray, 21, his wife, Shirley Jean, 22, and his half-brother, Joe Durston 15, authorities said.

The three were arrested at a roadblock at the intersection of U. S. 50 and Alternate 50 west of Lawrenceville by Lawrenceville city police and Lawrence County authorities.

Authorities said about $73 was taken in the holdup of Vaughn's service station. They said the three were driving a car they had taken on trial from Broadhead Motors at East St. Louis.

Found in the car were a .32-caliber and .22-caliber pistols. Lawrenceville Police Chief Clifford Ficus said the three outran a state police car and Olney police in the chase to the roadblock. Ficus said Gray told officers he drove "about 85" during the wild ride.

Eisenhower Reviews $74 Billion Budget With Cabinet Members

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower reviewed with his Cabinet today the 74-billion-dollar balanced budget he will submit to Congress this month.

Officials said the huge spending program, which includes about 40 billion defense dollars to meet Russia's missile threat, now is complete except for some minor adjustments in defense items.

A preliminary draft of the State of the Union message the President will deliver in person to Congress next Thursday also was discussed.

All members of the Cabinet and Vice President Richard M. Nixon attended the session in the White House Cabinet room.

The President, winding up a 26-hour visit to the capital before returning to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, presided later at the swearing in of the new six-member Civil Rights Commission.

The commission immediately afterward under the chairmanship of John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University, was to begin

Plane Circles Low Over Benton And Mount Vernon

BENTON, Ill. (AP)—About 100 residents drove their cars to Benton Municipal Airport and directed their light on the runway Thursday night in the belief that a four-engine plane "buzzing" the town was in trouble.

The plane appeared to fly over Benton at tree-top level, only 150 to 200 feet, about 7 p. m. The plane also flew low over Mount Vernon, frightening residents.

Sheriff Paul Collins of Franklin County rounded up 100 motorists and took them to the Benton airport to aid the plane in landing. However, the craft flew over the airport for a time and then headed for Mount Vernon.

At Mount Vernon, it circled the city at about 400 feet a few times and then disappeared into the west. Attempts by authorities to contact the pilot by radio from Marion Airport drew no answer.

Collins said the plane appeared to be a bomber or military transport.

Court Martial Ordered for Army Sergeant

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense lawyers were slated to be named today for the court martial of an Army sergeant accused of spying for Russia under the influence of vodka and sex.

The attorneys face the task of saving M. Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes from possible life imprisonment for actions he committed while serving in the U. S. Embassy's motor pool in Moscow from May, 1951, to July, 1953.

An Army general court martial was ordered Thursday after investigation of charges that the 40-year-old Army veteran had violated U. S. espionage laws and signed a false official document. No trial date was set immediately.

As a witness in the trial of convicted Soviet master spy Rudolph Abel in Brooklyn, N. Y., last October, Rhodes admitted peddling information to the Russians.

He said he became a Russian informer after a wild hotel bedroom party with a Moscow girl. He had an American wife at the time.

Rhodes said he woke up after the party with a Russian woman who started his contact with Soviet agents.

Rhodes testified he had been paid between $2,500 and $3,000 for information on the "personal habits" of American embassy civilian and military personnel, on Army assignments he had held and on a code training program he had undergone.

He said "some" of the data given Soviet agents was true.

The rangy, 15-year Army veteran faces a possible maximum penalty if convicted on the spy charge of life imprisonment, dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

With barely 100 miles to go Hillary had to abandon one snowcat, jettison all but a minimum of fuel and gamble on making it with lighter weight. The gamble succeeded.

Hillary had about a 150-mile start on the 50-year-old Fuchs. He had the added advantage of not being tied down to making scientific measurements as he dashed across the continent.

But there was a touch of heroism in his decision to make the last 500-mile run with only light equipment and no particular advance planning.

First to Make Trek Since Scott in 1912

Radio Message Announces Success Of 1,200-Mile Trip

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—New Zealand adventurer Sir Edmund Hillary radioed today he had reached the South Pole — the winner of a historic trans-Antarctic race and the first man to make the overland trek since Scott in 1912.

Hillary and four other New Zealanders won a desperate gamble against deep snow, treacherous crevasses and brutal weather to plant their country's flag at the pole before a second British expedition made it.

A radio message announcing the success of their 1,200-mile journey was received at the headquarters of the New Zealand International Geophysical Year committee here tonight.

Not since Britain's Capt. Robert F. Scott marched to the South pole in 1912 had it been reached by land.

Scott and his party died on the way back after discovering Norwegian Roald Amundsen had beaten them to the world's southernmost point only a month before.

The big American base now at the pole was established by air. Minimum of Supplies

Hillary, 38-year-old conqueror of Mt. Everest, had set out from Scott base at McMurdo Sound with the original aim of setting up a supply base 500 miles from the pole.

The base was to be used by Dr. Vivian Fuchs who is leading a British expedition from one side of the continent to the other across the South Pole.

But Hillary encountered so much better traveling conditions than Fuchs — which is not saying much for Antarctica — that he arrived at the supply point ahead of schedule.

On Christmas Day, his supply base established, he messaged to Scott base, "heading Hell-bent for pole. God willing and crevasses permitting." That made a race out of it.

With a minimum of supplies he and his compatriots coaxed snowcat tractors 500 miles over some of the most difficult and treacherous surface on earth.

They hit relatively good weather at first but earlier this week it got so bad Hillary radioed that he was almost beaten.

Then, Thursday night conditions improved and the tiny band completed its momentous journey today.

Fuchs was believed still to be 200 to 300 miles from the pole with his larger party. Advantage Over Fuchs Hillary's pace across the glaciers and snowdrifts was phenomenal — up to 56 miles a day — until the party hit the worsened conditions this week.

With barely 100 miles to go Hillary had to abandon one snowcat, jettison all but a minimum of fuel and gamble on making it with lighter weight. The gamble succeeded.

Hillary had about a 150-mile start on the 50-year-old Fuchs. He had the added advantage of not being tied down to making scientific measurements as he dashed across the continent.

But there was a touch of heroism in his decision to make the last 500-mile run with only light equipment and no particular advance planning.

Dulles' Warning

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The real heart of the Eisenhower-Dulles report on the Paris NATO meeting was the secretary of state's warning that the struggle with the Soviet Union can be lost on the economic battleground without the firing of a shot.

This was, of course, a report to America, and Dulles plainly was laying the groundwork for continuing and even perhaps expanding foreign economic aid to the underdeveloped countries. He said that without that aid Russia might take over these nations one by one until the United States and its Western allies were gradually encircled and finally strangled.

The warning actually should be read by all the world. For those who know the Soviet Communists best believe that the Kremlin's goal is not another shooting war but political and economic conquest, hastened by threats of war and many other devices of pressure upon the world's fearful peoples.

Some of the affected countries seem not to realize their peril. They imagine they can deal with Russia without risk to themselves. But with the Russians the clasp of friendship becomes the deadly squeeze of the boa constrictor.

Our allies and possibly these same underdeveloped nations will unfortunately pay more attention to President Eisenhower's statement that there can be no real disarmament progress until Moscow demonstrates clear evidence of sincerity and integrity. They are likely to be annoyed at this as seeming to prejudice any new talks we may now have with Russia on peace and disarmament. We have, of course, already agreed to take part in such discussions. The President and Dulles did say, however, that we and our NATO friends will make any sacrifice to sustain and advance the hope for disarmament and better world understanding.

What the two men may have had in mind was to caution both our allies and others that in their urge for peace they dare not go too far in conceding ground to the Russians. They must still insist on holding to the things which are free men's assurances of security, until unquestionable good faith has been shown by the Kremlin.

Many gained the notion that our leaders' first reactions to the NATO meeting featured a too-glib confidence over the results. The Eisenhower-Dulles report may have helped to put the current phase of the East-West struggle in a perspective of peril that possibly accords better with our true situation today.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Eisenhower drank no martinis at Paris; Jim Hagerty doesn't like being considered a night-owl; few White House Press secretaries have been as tough as our Jim.

WASHINGTON.—Not everything that happened at the NATO conference saw the light of day. It was published, for instance, that Eisenhower had canceled a state dinner with Spaak of Belgium just 40 minutes ahead of time.

What actually happened was that the NATO session had begun to run long that day and Eisenhower, well in advance of the dinner, told Jim Hagerty: "Look, I'm not going to be able to make that dinner."

However, it took some time to notify all the heads of states; so it was not until 40 minutes before the dinner that the announcement was issued.

Actually Eisenhower put on a dinner jacket and dined with some old buddies in Paris, not with the heads of states.

KEE'S FICTITIOUS MARTINI

Again it was published, and the French press made quite a stew over the fact that Eisenhower had referred to some delicious French wine as a martini.

What actually happened was the waiter had passed a tray of drinks which Eisenhower had refused. But as a toast was proposed, he took a glass of wine, barely touched it to his lips. Then, wanting to be agreeable and wanting to say something, he patted his tummy and said: "I haven't had a martini for years."

This was true; for the President drinks only Scotch and water in the privacy of the White House.

American newspapermen had decided not to write about the incident until a British brigadier general rushed out to the French and British press with the story that the President drank wine and called it a martini.

JIM HAGERTY'S ULCERS

A lot was published about the dressing-down Jim Hagerty dished out to Art Buchwald, the New York Herald Tribune funnyman. Events which preceded the dressing-down were not published.

Hagerty, friends say, was having trouble with his ulcers. He couldn't keep newsmen in line in Paris as he frequently can around the White House. But what really gripped him was the opening line of Buchwald's take-off on a Hagerty press conference. It quoted a fictitious "Jim" as saying: "I'm sorry I'm late, gentlemen, but I thought the show at the Lido would end at eleven-thirty."

It happens Hagerty is quite a night-owl. But, like some other prominent night-owls, he doesn't want the public to know he's a night-owl. Newspaper friends hushed up, for instance, the fact that, during Ike's stroke in November, the White House couldn't locate Hagerty until 4 a. m. in a Paris nitery.

So when Buchwald, who knows Paris better than the Paris police, tossed in the little dig about Hagerty and the Lido, Jim hit the ceiling. News pals of Hagerty's urged him to ignore the gibe, told him the Buchwald column was aimed more at them than at him, advised that any public retaliation would only give Buchwald publicity.

They thought they had him convinced. But after a long press conference devoted to legitimate matters, good old Jim let loose.

"There's just one more thing," he said, and then proceeded to belt the correspondent of the paper which has been the staunchest supporter of the Eisenhower administration.

Jim's ulcers must have been hurting bad.

CRACKING DOWN ON PRESS

Many White House press secretaries have cracked down on newsmen in the past, but none more so than our Jim.

Hagerty once called in Ethel Payne, reporter for the Negro newspaper Chicago Defender, after she had asked a series of questions at White House press conferences regarding failure to abolish segregation in the nation's capital, and threatened her with loss of credentials.

Hagerty had done a thorough investigation of Miss Payne which must have included her income tax returns. This unearthed the fact that she had been paid by the CIO-PAC for some editorial work at the same time she was an accredited correspondent. Hagerty threatened to report this to the Press Credentials committee.

Again when Milton Friedman of the Jewish Telegraphic agency asked a series of embarrassing questions at press conferences regarding Ike's refusal to push the Immigration Bill, he was called in by Max Rabb, secretary of the cabinet. Rabb suggested that Friedman lay off the embarrassing questions. When Friedman declined, Friedman's boss in New York got a call from Bernard Katzen, head of the Jewish Division of the Republican National Committee, protesting that Friedman was asking embarrassing questions and that he be ordered to lay off.

The Jewish Telegraphic agency did not, however, discipline Friedman. It increased his salary.

In the Hoover administration, there were various attempts to crack down on the press; also some in the Roosevelt administration. In the Truman administration kindly Charley Ross and Joe Short never made any effort to retaliate against critical newsmen. Good old Jim's operations have been tougher than any other press secretary since that job was established.

First Mass Production Clocks and watches were the first industrial products to be mass produced on a large scale. Assembly lines, using interchangeable parts, were developed by New England factories more than 150 years ago.

Fossil Facts
It is possible to determine the age of a fossil from the position of the layer of rock in which it is imbedded. It usually is true that fossils which are found in deep layers of earth are older than those which are found in upper layers.

"ELEMENTARY, MY DEAR WATSON"

Resolve now that you will purchase all your medicines and health-aids from your pharmacist for these important reasons.

First — You are safer because our skilled training enables us to protect you more.

Second — We charge no more than food and variety stores, despite the fact that we give a more personal service.

Third — If drug stores do not get these purchases it may become impossible to keep open so many hours. Long after most stores close, your pharmacy is serving you. Isn't it elementary that you should obtain every medicine and health-aid from your pharmacist?

Miss Joanne Winters, Pvt. Jimmie Dale Lambert Wed

Before an altar beautifully decorated with tall burning candelabras, standards of gladiolus and greenery, centered with an arch, Miss Joanne Winters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Winters, R.F.D. 1, Harrisburg, became the bride of Pvt. Jimmie Dale Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Lambert, R.F.D. 2, Harrisburg, in an impressive double ring ceremony Sunday. The wedding was solemnized in Mt. Moriah church at 3 p. m. with the Rev. George D. Jenkins performing the ceremony.

Mrs. Bob Norman, organist, accompanied Mrs. Clifford Knight who sang "Always," "Because," and "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a ballerina length dress of white tulle with lace over taffeta with a tight fitting bodice, scalloped neckline, full skirt, and long sleeves pointed at the hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion was secured to a headband covered with lace. She carried a bouquet of white gladiolus on a white Bible with satin streamers entwined with ferns and buds.

Miss Frieda Winters, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor and wore a blue taffeta dress with black accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations with bits of blue to match the dress.

Miss Aline Dutton, cousin of the bride, was her bridesmaid and wore a pink taffeta dress with identical accessories to that of the maid of honor. Her bouquet was of blue carnations trimmed with pink to match the dress.

Wendell Lambert, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man.

John Winters Jr., brother of the bride, was the groomsmen. Don Price and Jesse Thompson served as ushers.

Misses Jo Ella and Ruby Joy Knight lighted the candles and registered the guests.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a gray dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a beige dress with brown accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

A reception was held immediately following the wedding in the church basement where the bridal couple cut a lovely wedding cake. Hostesses were Mrs. W. C. Dallas and Mrs. Bill McNew.

Both the bride and groom are

Pvt. and Mrs. Jimmie Dale Lambert (Foster Studio Photo)

graduates of the Harrisburg Township high school. The bride is employed in the office of Attorney D. F. Rumsey.

The bridegroom is presently serving with the U. S. Army and will be discharged in February. He is stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Miss Diane Keltner underwent a tonsillectomy at Lightner hospital Thursday. Her grandmother, Mrs. Lilly Chitty, is also a medical patient there.

Berean Sunday School Class Holds Holiday Meetings

The Berean Sunday school class of the First Christian church celebrated the Christmas and New Year holidays with a series of meetings. On Dec. 16, the group met at the church and went about singing Christmas carols. They went to the Harrisburg and the Lightner hospitals and into several homes. The Cecil Uzzle family invited them into their home for games and refreshments.

On the afternoons of Dec. 23 and 24, they packed and delivered Christmas baskets. During the evening of the 23rd, they met in the home of Howard and Elaine Parker and held a business meeting and an election of officers. Those elected were: Penny Wise, president; Mary Lou Collins, vice-president; and Elaine Parker, secretary-treasurer. There were games and refreshments provided by Miss Parker's mother, Mrs. Gladys Parker.

Dec. 30 found the group and the intermediate classes attending the mid-winter rally of the Christian churches of Illinois in West Frankfort. The plans for a camp next summer were announced at this rally.

On New Year's Eve there was a watch party for the Berean class in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Uzzle and during the devotional period many good resolutions were made. Randall Ervin gave the devotion.

The New Year was greeted with balloons falling from the ceiling. Horns and shouts of greetings filled the air.

Mr. and Mrs. Uzzle, Rev. and Mrs. Glen Daugherty and Don Miller were chaperones for these activities.

Christmas Party Held By Saline County College Club

The Saline County College club held its annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. James H. Arensman on December 19.

There was a short business meeting and club members decided to cancel the note of a vocational loan recipient who had been seriously ill. They also voted to place an advertisement in the Harrisburg Township High School yearbook, the Keystone, as a small token of the organization's support of worthy young people's educational efforts.

Mrs. Harold Bayman, art supervisor of the Harrisburg city school system, showed the members how to make a number of attractive, colorful decorations for the holidays, and they enjoyed making several of these.

Following this, everyone played a jumbled word game which turned out to be the names of things one associates with Christmas. A prize was presented to the winner, Trudy Wilson.

At the conclusion of the game, gifts were exchanged.

Before the guests departed, Mrs. Arensman and her assistant hostesses, Rose Garavalia, Jerry Chunn, Barbara Bing, and Jeannine Hill served peppermint ice cream, and Christmas cookies.

Members were urged to attend the January 17 meeting in the home of Mrs. James Sullivan, 316 South Cherry, when Miss Alvina Shestak will review a book.

Union Chapel Volunteer Class Holds Party

The Volunteer class of Union Chapel Cumberland Presbyterian church met in the church basement for its Christmas party. The president, Kenneth Allen, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Paul Drott gave the devotion and chose the scripture of the birth of Jesus. Mrs. Bill McElrath closed the business meeting with prayer. The remainder of the evening was spent in exchanging gifts and visiting. The refreshments consisted of homemade candy, popcorn, fruit and nuts.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drott, Phyllis Ann and Charles A. Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Riegel, Larry and Regina, Mr. and Mrs. James Allen and Donna, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Riegel and Lowell, Mrs. Aaron Woodiel and Brenda, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McElrath, Judy and Jimmy, Rev. and Mrs. Vol Sittig and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Short Visit Eastern States

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Short, 912 South Land street, visited with their son, James Short, and his family in New Cumberland, Pa., during the Christmas holidays. They were away from Harrisburg from Dec. 23 until last Sunday. While in the eastern states they visited the National Museum in Pittsburgh where they were particularly impressed with the "electric map" of the battle of Pittsburgh during the Civil war and they enjoyed seeing federal buildings in Washington, D. C.

One of the high spots of the trip was their visit to the Gettysburg farm of President Eisenhower.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hilliard returned home Thursday after spending New Year's day with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Warren McCoy in Mattoon.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Birch, Elizabethtown, are parents of a girl born at the Harrisburg hospital Thursday. The baby has been named Shari Ioleen and weighed seven pounds, 11 ounces at birth.

CREAL FARMER RAISES FREAK POTATO

Walter Tanner, farmer living at RFD 1, Creal Springs, is exhibiting a Puerto Rican sweet potato which measures 24 inches in length and weighs about 4 1/2 pounds.

The freak potato grew on a vine about seven feet long which reached from its original ridge across to a third ridge before ending its length. "Now if any of you 'tater' growers can excel this one in length, let us hear from you; the challenge is made."

CREAL SPRINGS MAN ATTENDS EQUIPMENT SHOW

Clyde R. Donelson, son of Mr.

and Mrs. Everett Donelson, RFD 3, of the Donelson Equipment Company, has returned from Phoenix, Ariz., where he was a guest of the J. I. Case Farm Equipment Co. He was in Phoenix in connection with the world premiere showing of the new Case 1960 line of tractors and farm machinery.

The premiere will continue over a 30-day period and more than 3,500 Case dealers will participate in the show, with all travel being by air plane and will be probably the nation's largest civilian airlift, involving in excess of 10,000,000 passenger air miles.

The dealers had an opportunity to tour Phoenix and see many of the attraction of the west while attending the equipment show.

Two More Creal Springs Men Die; Total for Year 18

Two more of Creal Springs' aged citizens have died, bringing the total to 18 for the year 1957.

Luther Turner, for the past 17 years a citizen of Creal Springs, died at 12:30 p. m. Monday, Dec. 23, at the Marion Memorial hospital where he had only been a patient for five days. He was born in Carterville in 1879, and was 78 years old at the time of his passing. He worked as a painter and decorator during his career until recently.

He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Effie Allen, Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Mae Traewick of Wichita, Kansas; a brother, E. J. Turner, Memphis, Tenn., and other distant relatives and friends. Joe Turner, Creal Springs, and Burl Turner, Marion, are cousins.

Services were held Thursday at 1:30 p. m. in the Coal Bank church 3 miles east of Crab Orchard with the Rev. Eugene Nolen, pastor of the Creal Methodist church, officiating. Interment was in the Coal Bank cemetery nearby. The body was in charge.

Carlos Lauderdale, 73, died about 7 a. m. Thursday, Dec. 26, at his home in Creal Springs. He had been a resident of Creal Springs for 50 years. He was a former drayman, also custodian for a few years at a commercial club in Gary, Ind.

Mr. Lauderdale leaves a brother, Joe Lauderdale, and a sister, Mrs. Myrtle Maleard, both of Creal Springs, with whom he made his home. He was a member of the Methodist church in Creal Springs and was born Aug. 20, 1884, in Dixon Springs.

Funeral services were held at the Cosby funeral home in Creal Saturday, 2 p. m. with Rev. Eugene Nolen officiating. Interment was in Creal Springs cemetery.

HAND-PICKED for MURDER

Copyright 1957 by Robert Martin

By Robert Martin

XXIV

I reacted from instinct. "Get down!" I shouted at Howell as I dropped my rod and slid over the edge of the ledge into the water. Howell was staring down at me, a stupid, startled expression on his heavy, florid face.

"Get down, get down!" I cried. Comprehension entered his eyes then, and clumsily he rolled his heavy body over the ledge and crouched in the shallow water beside me. The locusts had stopped and it was suddenly very quiet.

We huddled there in the water while the seconds ticked by. Nothing happened. We waited, neither of us speaking. Then the locusts began to buzz again. I motioned to Howell to keep down, cautiously raised my head and peered over the overhanging ledge. I didn't see anything but the silent woods, but I ducked down again. I was in water almost to my knees, and so was Howell. There was no place for us to go, unless we swam, and if we exposed ourselves, whoever was back there in the woods would have a perfect shot at us. I wished I had the gun from the pocket of my coat up on the ledge. Not that it would have helped—we were sitting ducks. So we waited, and the sun sank lower.

At last Howell whispered hoarsely, "What'll we do?" He made a grotesque picture squatting there in the water with sweat on his beefy, upturned face. I said, "I think it's okay now. Come on up." I helped him scramble up to the ledge. I had a bad moment when he stood erect beside me, but there was nothing but the buzz of the locusts from the woods behind us. Nevertheless, I said, "Get into the car. Make it fast."

He ran to the car, got in and slammed the door. I took the fish from his stringer, tossed them back into the lake, emptied the minnow bucket and the worm can.

all the while feeling a prickling sensation on the back of my neck. Then I collected my coat, hat and the fishing gear and went to the car.

"It was too close." He turned in the seat and looked at me. "What's going on?"

I ignored his question and asked one of my own, keeping my gaze on the road ahead. "Why do you pick on Otto, the bartender?"

He said contemptuously, "Oh, him. He's always so polite and—superior acting, kind of sneering, as if he was better than me." He paused, and sighed again. "Maybe I shouldn't lose my temper, but I've been so worried lately, about Wayne and that woman—I guess I just took it out on the bartender. Anyhow, I don't like him. Then you think maybe it was just an accident back there?"

"No," I said harshly. "His aim was bad, but he was shooting at you."

He didn't speak for a second. Then he said in an unsteady voice, "Stay with me, Bennett, will you? Let me sleep in your room tonight. I—I can't take much more of this, not on top of poor Ambrose getting murdered, and Wayne marrying that woman, and all."

"All right," I said bleakly, "you can stay with me tonight."

It was after five when we reached the Harbor House. My shoes, socks and trouser legs felt uncomfortably soggy and I asked Howell if he wanted to change. He said, "Right now I want a drink."

Thelma was behind the bar. Howell and I sat in a booth. He now seemed to be quite calm, in spite of the bullet which had so narrowly missed him. The waitress came over and I suggested to Howell that he order some dinner. He gave me a crooked grin and told the girl to bring him a double rig.

When the drink arrived, I asked the girl, "Where's Otto?" "He's late," she replied, "but he'll be here—I hope. Thelma's got a date." I looked at Howell, but he avoided my glance and raised his glass.

Honey Campbell entered the bar, saw us, and came straight to our booth. There was a faint, hard twist to her mouth and a smoldering something in her eyes. I stood up. "Hello, Honey. Will you join us?"

She said, "Thank you, but I can only stay a minute," and sat beside me. She spoke to Howell. "Is it true—about Wayne?"

He raised his bushy eyebrows in surprise. "About what, my dear?" Coming from him, the courtly "my dear" sounded outlandish. I gazed at him curiously, but his attention was all on the girl.

She said, "About Wayne returning to Detroit tomorrow."

Howell shook his head. "I don't know anything about it. Why?" She took a cigarette from a package in a small purse. I struck a match for her. "I've been trying to contact Wayne, you know," she said. "Well, I finally got an answer from the cottage. She—that woman—was there, alone. I told her I wanted to talk to Wayne. She said he wasn't there, that she didn't know when he'd return. Then she asked who I was."

Honey paused, drew on her cigarette, and went on. "I don't think she's aware that Wayne and I are acquainted, so I said I worked at the library and that a book on geology Wayne had wanted had come in, and that he could pick it up. She laughed and said, 'Forget the book, dear Wayne and I are returning to Detroit in the morning, and we won't be back.' Then she hung up."

Wilt Chamberlain Sidelined, Kansas Is Jolted 52-50 by Oklahoma State

By United Press
It took an inspired Oklahoma State basketball team to prove that without Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, Kansas is good but hardly great.

While Chamberlain was under a doctor's care with a glandular infection, the defensive-minded, one-time Aggies handed top-ranked Kansas a 52-50 setback Thursday night on the Jayhawks' home court.

It was the Jayhawks' first setback since the final of the NCAA tournament last spring when they bowed to North Carolina, 54-53, on Joe Quigg's two free throws in the third overtime period.

Kansas had won 10 straight games this season, including an earlier 63-57 triumph over Oklahoma State when Chamberlain, the nation's leading scorer, led the way with a 30-point effort.

Although ranked 14th in this week's United Press ratings, State now boasts an impressive 6-1 won and lost record.

Meanwhile, fourth-ranked West Virginia remained undefeated by knocking off Canisius, 86-66. It was the 14th straight victory for the Mountaineers.

Boston College, one of New England's best teams, whipped Brown, 88-78, for its seventh straight victory.

The Citadel won the Senior Bowl tournament by swamping Spring Hill, 67-55, while Tennessee State whipped Hamline, 106-57, and Western Illinois downed William Jewell, 72-58, in the semi-finals of the NAIA Midwest Tip-Off tournament.

Elsewhere, Wichita beat Drake University, 74-69; Vanderbilt conquered touring Brigham Young, 89-56; Georgia Tech downed Furman, 74-64; Fresno State defeated Butler, 85-75, and Harvard won the University of New Hampshire tournament by clipping Amherst, 55-49.

Pairings for Greater Egyptian Cage Tourney to Begin Jan. 14 at Ridgway

Ridgway and Pope County will meet in the opening game of the Greater Egyptian conference basketball tournament with tipoff time set for 7 p. m. Tuesday, Jan. 14. The tourney, a four-day meet, will be held at Ridgway.

Thursday evening principals and coaches of the Greater Egyptian conference met in Ridgway to complete conference business, including the tourney pairings.

There will be two games three nights of the tournament—Tuesday, Thursday and Friday—but only one game the second night, Wednesday, Jan. 15.

Tournament officials are Earnie Reynolds and Dick Henley of Carterville. Admission will be 25 cents for each session for students with proper identification, adult admission will be 75 cents for the nights when two games are played, but only 50 cents on Wednesday when one game is scheduled.

Other business included awarding the spring sports meet to Shawneetown, to be held Friday, April 18 when all schools will participate in ping pong and volley ball. Three schools—Galatia, Rosiclare and Cave-in-Rock—also will compete in strength contests.

Tournament pairings:

Tuesday, Jan. 14
Game 1, Ridgway vs. Pope County, 7 p. m.
Game 2, Cave-in-Rock vs. Shawneetown, 8:30 p. m.

Wednesday, Jan. 15
Game 3, Equality vs. Rosiclare 8 p. m.

Thursday, Jan. 16
Game 4, Winners of games 1 and 3, 7 p. m.
Game 5, Galatia vs. winner game 2, 8:30 p. m.

Friday, Jan. 17
Game 6, Losers games 4 and 5, 7 p. m. (consolation).
Game 7, Winners games 4 and 5, 8:30 p. m. (championship).
Galatia drew a bye in first round play and advanced automatically to the semifinal round.

Rosiclare is defending champion of the GEC tourney, winning from Ridgway 59-49 in the championship game last year.

Big Games in South Seven Loop Tonight

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill.—A big Friday night is scheduled in South Seven conference play with two games of vital importance—West Frankfort at Herrin and Marion at Mt. Vernon—on tap.

A sellout crowd is virtually assured at Herrin. Besides being a vital South Seven match, the game between the Red Birds and the Tigers is tabbed No. 1 this week-end in Southern Illinois and is probably also the top game in the state.

Unbeaten Herrin, the defending Illinois state and South Seven champions, is riding an 11-game winning streak and is fresh from capturing its first Centralia Holiday tournament crown. The Tigers are unbeaten since being spilled last season by the same West Frankfort team, one of the two teams to defeat the Tigers last year.

West Frankfort, also highly rated, has a 9-1 season record and suffered its first loss when spilled by Mt. Vernon, 55-52, in the championship game of the Egyptian Holiday tournament at Harrisburg. Both West Frankfort and Herrin have identical 3-0 records in South Seven conference play and the Red Birds finished second to the Tigers last year in the final South Seven standings.

Of equal importance, though not drawing as much fan interest, is the match between Marion and Mt. Vernon at Mt. Vernon. Marion, 8-2 for the season and 3-0 in South Seven play, had its perfect 8-game string broken in the Centralia tournament and then lost again in the losers bracket. Marion badly needs a win to regain its prestige and to hold its position in the South Seven standings.

Mt. Vernon has a 9-1 season record and is 2-1 in South Seven play. The Rams dropped a 60-56 decision to West Frankfort just before the Egyptian tournament but bounced back to defeat the Red Birds in the holiday meet. Another defeat this early for Mt. Vernon would put the Rams way down in any possible challenge for the conference championship.

A third South Seven game Friday night sends Benton to Centralia. Both of these teams are counted out of the conference race with Benton having won no games in four league starts and Centralia winning only one of four starts. Benton is 3-6 for the season and Centralia has a 5-5 overall mark.

No conference games are scheduled Saturday night, though Herrin hosts Carbondale Athletics and West Frankfort entertains Eldorado.

Van Brocklin Quits Pro Play

LOS ANGELES (U.P.)—Fabulous passing star Norman Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams today officially went into retirement after nine seasons as one of the National Football League's top quarterbacks.

The "Flying Dutchman", as Van Brocklin became known in pro football, declared that he still felt he had "a season or two" left in him but decided to quit while at the top of his game.

"It began to be a mental strain each season," Van Brocklin told a hastily-called press conference late Thursday. "I'm about the last of the guys I came up with and I decided it was time to retire."

"I began thinking of retiring in mid-season for no particular reason other than I decided that this was my last season and the Baltimore Colts game was my last game."

Van Brocklin said he had no desire to embark on a coaching career and instead will continue to act as a sales and public relations representative for a pipeline company in Portland, Ore., where he will make his home.

Northwestern, Indiana TV Tilt to Open Loop Race

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Northwestern meets Indiana in an afternoon television game Saturday to get the Big Ten's 1958 basketball race under way.

The Wildcats head into the title chase with a new coach, Bill Rohr, and a pre-conference record of five victories in eight games, losing only to Notre Dame, North Carolina State and top-ranked Kansas.

The Hoosiers, on the other hand, will enter the race with one of their poorest pre-league showing in years. Coach Branch McCracken's crew dropped six of seven starts with only a victory over St. Mary's of California to show for its efforts.

Eight other contenders pair off Saturday night.

Michigan State, displaying the proudest record of seven wins to one loss against early opponents, clashes with Ohio State, loser of its first seven games.

Illinois, the loop's highest-scoring five which closed with a 6-1 pre-conference record, meets Wisconsin on the Badger court. The Badgers defeated five non-league rivals and lost to three.

Michigan is at Iowa and Purdue is at Minnesota in other games.

Rosi-Busso Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Lightweight contender Paolo Rosi is an 8-5 favorite to beat Johnny Busso when they finally meet tonight, after four postponements since last March.

Their 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC at 9 p.m. c.s.t.

Although ailments and injuries caused four delays, their fight should be exciting because each is an able boxer-puncher. Baldish Rosi, formerly of Italy and now of New York, is rated fifth among 135-pound contenders. New Yorker Busso is ranked 10th.

Rosi, 29, is rated the harder puncher. Whether that's true will be demonstrated tonight. He is an aggressive, upright boxer with a good left jab and left hook and with a stunning straight right.

Rangy Busso, 23, prefers to counter-punch at long range. But he also is a good banger at close quarters to the body, when he comes in with his bob-weave.

Rosi's 26-4-1 record includes 11 knockouts. He was stopped twice on cuts. Busso's 31-5-1 list includes 14 kayoes. He was stopped once, also on cuts.

Schayes Nears Free Throw Record
Adolph Schayes, high-scoring forward of the Syracuse Nationals, today is within five free throws of the all-time National Basketball Assn. record for consecutive foul conversions.

The six-foot, eight-inch veteran connected on all five of his foul attempts Thursday night to extend his string to 50. Boston's Bill Sharman set the record of 55 in 1956.

The New York Knickerbockers, however, spoiled the evening for Schayes and his teammates with a 131-98 victory, moving them to a game-and-a-half of the second-place Nats in the Eastern Division. In the second game of the double-header at Philadelphia, the Warriors edged St. Louis, 95-93.

Philadelphia will travel to Cincinnati for tonight's only action.

Mother, Blamed for Kidnaping, Loss Of Son Two Years Ago, Granted Divorce

NEWTON, Iowa (AP) — A kidnaping which touched off one of the largest manhunts in the East two years ago was blamed today for a broken marriage.

Mrs. Marilyn Damman, 24, was granted a divorce Thursday from her husband Gerald, 27, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

The Damman's son Steven, then 3, was kidnaped outside an East

Meadow, N. Y., supermarket, Oct. 31, 1955. The boy never has been found.

Mrs. Damman said her husband turned against her and accused her of carelessness following the kidnaping. She was given custody of another child, Pamela Sue, 3, and of the child she is expecting.

Damman was stationed at Mitchell Air Force Base at the time his son was kidnaped.

The boy and his infant sister were left outside the market while Mrs. Damman went inside to shop. When she returned the boy was gone.

"At the time Jerry just said it was a matter of being at the wrong place at the wrong time," Mrs. Damman said. "Then he got out of the Air Force and we came home."

"His parents blamed me for being careless and then he started blaming me, too."

"He (her husband) deserted me and moved next door to his parents' farm," Mrs. Damman said.

She said she planned to leave Newton soon but had no plans other than that.

Long Distance
Phone Strike May Begin Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—A nationwide long distance telephone strike may begin at midnight tonight unless agreement can be reached on a new contract for 25,000 employees of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. before that time.

Elaine Gleason, national director of the Long Lines division of the Communications Workers of America, said the possibility of a strike any time after the union's current contract expires at midnight "is very promising."

Nearly complete returns on a strike ballot taken Thursday indicated that the union membership was "overwhelmingly" in favor of striking, she said.

Both sides reported that some progress was made in day-long talks Thursday. A company spokesman said wage agreement had been reached in more than 50 per cent of the geographical areas affected by the contract, but Miss Gleason gave a more pessimistic report.

She said the company was asking for a no-strike clause, elimination of a maintenance of union dues clause, and an increase of working hours for administrative workers in 24 cities. She said AT&T wanted these employees to increase their weekly work load from 35 and 37 1-2 hours to 40 hours.

The union is seeking a $3-a-week increase for operators and $3 to $5 for plant workers at company installations in all states except New Hampshire, Vermont, Delaware, South Dakota, Montana, and Nevada, where the union is not represented. Plant workers earn $43.50 to $119 a week and operators earn $43 to $70.50, with wage scales varying in different sections of the country.

State Dep't
Hopes to Hire
Science Advisor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department hopes to hire a new science advisor soon to help cope with problems of space-age diplomacy.

Shortly thereafter the department plans to recruit scientists for assignment to five foreign capitals to work on scientific matters. It has $200,000 earmarked to finance the program during the current fiscal year.

The department's science attaché program came to a halt about two years ago when the last of a dozen such men came home and were not replaced. The State Department has not had a science adviser since late in 1953 when Dr. Joseph B. Koepfli of California Institute of Technology left the post.

The State Department gave money as one of the basic reasons for death of the program. It also said most of the attaches in the past were college professors who took the jobs for only one year, a period too short to be considered worth while.

Chairman John E. Moss of the House information subcommittee Thursday prodded the department to get the program going again. He asked Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for an explanation of why the science attaches were withdrawn and what was being done to revive the program.

President Eisenhower disclosed last Nov. 7 that Dulles would "appoint a science adviser to himself and science attaches in appropriate places abroad."

Officials said Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter has been pressing a search for the top adviser ever since. They said he has narrowed the field down to two candidates but declined to identify them.

Queen Elizabeth
One of 12 Best
Dressed Women

NEW YORK (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II's whirlwind trip to America paid off today in fashion honors. For the first time in her life, she's "officially" a best-dressed woman.

The 32-year-old Queen, who opened Canada's Parliament in her old coronation dress and then trotted out a new costume for each meal of her 10-day visit last October, was named to fourth place on the 12-place list compiled by the couture group of the New York Dress Institute.

She was still two steps behind the woman who put her in line for the throne. The Duchess of Windsor, a perennial best-dresser, tied for second this year with Mrs. Winston Guest, the former Lucy Cochrane of Boston.

But the Queen beat out for the first time both her younger sister, Princess Margaret, and her aunt, the Duchess of Kent, who have made the list in previous years but didn't this year.

First place on the list went for the umpteenth time to Mrs. William Paley, wife of the head of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and sister of the wife of Uncle Sam's ambassador to Queen Elizabeth's court.

Third place went to the Countess Consuelo Crespi, of Rome, the former New York debutante and fashion model Consuelo O'Connor.

Trailing the Queen were:

5. Actress Aubrey Hepburn of Hollywood.

6. Mrs. Henry Ford II of Michigan and New York.

7. Vicomtesse Jacqueline de Ribes of Paris.

8. Claudette Colbert of Hollywood and Mrs. William Randolph Hearst Jr., wife of the publisher. (tied).

9. The Countess of Quintanilla of Madrid.

10. Countess Mona von Bismarck, the former Mrs. Harrison Williams and a long-time leader of the list.

11. Mrs. Norman K. Winston of New York and Paris.

12. Mrs. Thomas Bancroft Jr., New York social registerite.

Some Person With Troubled Conscience
Sends State $200

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A person with a troubled conscience sent the state of Illinois two brand new $100 bills today "for an injustice of years ago."

Miss Merle Wood in the state information service was opening the daily pile of mail addressed only to "State of Illinois."

"Well, look at this," she exclaimed and held up the two bills. With them was a note printed in pencil and reading "I am enclosing $200 for an injustice of years ago." The envelope was mailed from Edwardsville Thursday.

The money was turned over to the state's general revenue fund.

Remove Pickets
From City Hall
At Metropolis

METROPOLIS, Ill. (AP)—Laborers' Union pickets have been withdrawn from around the Metropolis City Hall after about four months.

Mayor J. P. Williams, who is also business agent for Carpenters Local 803, and Floyd Coughlin, business agent for Laborers' Union 1320, said the dispute was settled.

They said the agreement was reached Thursday afternoon, but that details will not be released until a new ordinance dealing with the dispute can be acted upon Monday night by the City Council.

Ex-Husband Admits Killing
Former Bride

MONTICELLO, Ill. (AP)—The ex-husband of a pretty teen-age girl who was shot and killed near Farmer City was charged with murder today, and held without bond in the Piatt County jail here.

William Flint, 24, who police said admitted shooting his former bride because she snubbed him after she returned from a European tour, was taken before Justice S. E. Funk and charged with murder. A preliminary hearing on the charge was scheduled Wednesday.

The girl, Elfrieda Stensel, 18, was killed Thursday when she went to visit a friend at a farm across the Piatt County line from Farmer City. Both Flint and Miss Stensel lived in Farmer City.

Piatt County State's Atty. Carl I. Glasgow said Flint told him he fired a .22 caliber rifle at Elfrieda "just to scare her."

Sheriff Troy Bennett said Flint readily admitted slaying Elfrieda because "she wouldn't talk to me."

Flint and Miss Stensel were married secretly last spring, but her parents had the girl obtain a divorce. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Stensel then took Elfrieda on a summer tour of Europe to help her forget her husband. In October, they sent her to a private school. She returned to this central Illinois community for the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Police said the girl was shot Thursday as she and a friend got out of a car at the Jess Hammer farm in Piatt county. Hammer's son had recently married and Elfrieda and her girl friend were bringing gifts for the bride.

Three Local Boys Admit Burglaries

while the other boys entered, they told the sheriff. The Vineyard burglary followed.

Four Marion youths were picked up last night by Police Chief Ross Lane and City Policemen John Dunn and Pat Atkinson and found in their possession were six $5.95 shirts that had been taken from Hart's department store.

Three Boys Fined

Lane said that one of the boys, Barry Jones, took the blame for the theft, and that Jones, Gary E. Spiller and Jim Reichert all were fined for disorderly conduct. The fourth, Ronnie Patterson, is on probation, Lane said, and was picked up by Marion officers with the intent to have his probation revoked in Williamson county.

The group had parked their car on the Kroger parking lot and most of the shirts were in the vehicle when the boys were picked up.

Four of the meters stolen here New Year's Eve were found on a gravel road near Ingram Hill, two on a gravel road south of Sunset Lawn cemetery. All six had been broken open and the money removed.

IMPORTANT ELECTRIC DRYER INFORMATION

Here are additional facts and helpful suggestions about an electric clothes dryer.

1. Clothes dried in an electric dryer last one-third longer than those dried on the clothes line. It pays to own a dryer.
2. Articles such as Turkish towels, corduroy garments and chenille spreads are much softer when dried in an electric dryer than when dried on a line. It's more pleasant to own a dryer.
3. Clothes dry more evenly. Shirts can be ironed as they are taken from the dryer. It's more convenient to own an electric dryer. Removes dust and lint, leaves them looking fresh and crisp. You save with an electric dryer.
4. Save cleaning bills by tumbling drapes in your electric dryer. Removes dust and lint, leaves them looking fresh and crisp. You save with an electric dryer.
5. The average housewife walks many miles to and from the clothes line each year, and carries 4,000 pounds of wet clothes. It's easier when you own an electric dryer.
